

National Sales Manager

• Livestock identification • Brisbane based

An international animal identification company requires an experienced, self-starting sales professional to lift the company's business to a new level in Australia and New Zealand.

This is a new role in a small business and requires an organised individual with the ability to plan and deliver outcomes, largely working alone.

You must have a solid track record in sales and sales planning, preferably in agriculture. Experience selling to primary producers, familiarity with field days and the efficient use of multipliers would be very well regarded.

The successful appointee is expected to be a serious contender for the position of General Manager within a matter of months.

Remuneration includes salary, super and car, plus a performance bonus.

If you think this might be worth exploring call David Leyonhjelm for a confidential discussion or send your resume to the address below. Every contact is treated in strict confidence.
